Bella Ciao

Buffalo mozzarella - Aperitivo - Bella Ciao

Buffalo mozzarella

Buffalo mozzarella, known as Mozzarella di Bufala Campana DOP, is an Italian filata cheese (the curd mass is acidified, scalded and stretched into long strands) made from water buffalo milk, traditionally produced in Campania, but now also in other regions of southern Italy. The term mozzarella is derived from the method of production: the individual portions are separated from the cheese mass by "mozzatura" ("beating, cutting by hand").

Aperitivo

In Italy, aperitivo is not only the aperitif itself, but also the habit of meeting up with friends for drinks in bars and pubs in the evening.

Bella Ciao

Until the 19th century, it was initially a song about a woman's heartache over a rival. The melody of the song Bella ciao in the Mondine version was sung at the beginning of the 20th century by rice pickers in the former Italian province of Terre d'Acqua near the city of Bologna. It laments the harsh working conditions under the piercing sun. The version first documented in 1906 already bears the traits of a protest song against the boss, who supervises the work "with a stick in his hand", "eats up" the women's lives and pays them little to boot. The song became known worldwide in its adaptation by the Resistenza, the Italian resistance movement against fascism during the Second World War.
